

Guidance: Retention periods

Introduction:

This document is for advice purposes only and should not be shared with staff. It details recommended minimum periods of retention for documents relating to personnel. These incorporate statutory minimum periods, time limitations for legal claims and practices advised by professional organisations. Where these have been considered the relevant details are marked within the column labelled 'Authority/Justification'.

Legal considerations:

A wide number of authorities have been considered and this includes various timescales for potential claims that may require a defence. Legislation has been cited in the policy where applicable.

Key:

- CIPD Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development
- CQC Care Quality Commission
- FCA Financial Conduct Authority
- GMC General Medical Council
- HSE Health and Safety Executive
- ICO Information Commissioner's Office

Limitation incl. EC – The time limits within which a relevant claim may be brought in an employment tribunal, plus the full length of time this may be extended by due to an ACAS early conciliation.

NMC – Nursing and Midwifery Council

Customisations:

Any highlighted text encourages you to consider specific requirements you may be required to adhere to. Please consider any regulatory or supervisory authorities that you may be subject to (see examples listed above), insurance requirements and any nuances within your local authority. The requirements of local authorities in respect of children and young people tend to vary significantly.
